

"Never Saw A Bug"

"The potatoes that I sprayed with Pyrox kept green until the frost killed them, without a sign of blight. I never saw a bug on them after using Pyrox. It is easier to apply than any mixture I have ever used, and will not wash off in the heaviest showers."—L. A. LITTLEFIELD, winner of the first prize of $200 in a Maine potato growing contest.

Pyrox

"The Spray that Adds to Your Profit"

kills the bugs as fast as they appear, and prevents blight and rot. Use it on the young plants before bugs or blights get their start.

Get this Pyrox Crop Book. It tells how to protect your crops against bugs, worms and disease. Ask for a copy.

Sold in one and five pound cans.

For street, business or sport wear, this unlined coat of Pollette by Printz is equally suitable.

It is built on ulster lines with an all-round belt and the wide set-in sleeves always so popular in sport models. Individual stitching and novel pockets form the only trimming needed to relieve the simplicity of line.

For the woman who prefers to buy one coat for all-round wear, and that one serviceable, this model is hard to match in material, style or design. The price, too, is well within reach of the average woman's income.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DEAD

Henry Givens, a Civil war veteran, died Wednesday morning, April 19th, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joe Lipps, at Ben Hur, Lee county, being 95 years of age. He was perhaps one of the oldest citizens in this entire section and up till a few years ago was considered an unusually strong man considering his age. He was born and reared in Lee county and fought throughout the Civil war for the Confederate cause and participated in many battles. He was wounded a number of times and was partially crippled in one foot from bullet wounds.

Mr. Givens spent his last days visiting among his children in Wise and Lee counties and it was only a few weeks ago that he was seen in Big Stone Gap. He joined the church many years ago and had always lived the life of a faithful Christian. The following children survive him: Mrs. Joe Lipps, of Ben Hur, Mrs. Harrington Napier, of Deep Springs, Mrs. W. T. Mahaffey, of Big Stone Gap, Bob and Sam Givens, of Linden.

The remains were interred at Deep Springs on last Thursday afternoon. The deceased lived to see forty grand children and fifty-five great grand children.
